resign themselves to try and keep the world from changing or skink mentally instead. Not Gianna. Too keep-moving-forward. So remarkable.” - Gina Gianetto, CEO, CAMPdesign and Architecture “Gianna has stood out as one of the genuine bright lights of humanity.” - Rev. Michael Petrow, PhDc, associate pastor of House on the Rock Family Church “Your book is so wonderful - in meaningful content and writing style. You take the journey with your readers - so much truth and wisdom coming through and very well written.” - Felice Willat, founder of Day Runner Life Management Systems and author of Woman’s Book of Changes There are very good self-help books around; I read many of them myself when I still believed that with enough self-improvement we could find our best selves and change the world. Imagine my shock when my true Self found me. And no, they are not one and the same. This book shares my discovery that what we know as our selves are actually our Personas, the invented selves we think we are. The Self—our true nature—is the one we were born to become; it is our birthright, waiting within for us to discover. For any reader who can suspend old expectations and preconceptions to take the journey offered—a journey to your own availability—simultaneously and synergistically whole worlds begin to change, within, without, and for the good of all.

101 Ways to Invest in Yourself and Transform Your Life Oct 08 2020 In prehistoric times, man's primary quest, like every other animal's was to simply survive and thrive in a world that had many hostile elements and competing species. Like every other living thing, we simply wanted to live on our terms. But then, Ancient Men started to live in communities and societies that rewarded the bravest and strongest of men. The superior hunter could provide more food for his family; weaker hunters lived on the scraps of braver men. And that began the unending quest and competition for success that exists till today. Today, beyond survival, every man on Planet Earth wants to be successful and happy. That is why we do every single thing we do. We put our kids in school to gain an education that can put them a yard ahead of every other person around them. We get up every morning to take another shot at that boring work because we are after success. You work hard as you do because you have goals to meet. These goals could be long-term like earning a managerial role or as short-term as earning your next wage to settle bills. My point is that everything we do is an attempt to be successful at the goals we have set. The only other thing we chase as much as success is happiness and stability. For these two things, we are all willing to go the extra mile. Yet, despite our best efforts, life seems to have its own formula for sharing success and happiness among us. For every Thomas Edison, there are millions of people with great ideas that will never be translated into an invention. For every Bill Gates, there are many people out there struggling to find their feet and live a life of contentment. For every Cristiano Ronaldo, Beyoncé, Adele or Elon Musk, there are countless others who consistently fail to achieve their goals. They are forever stuck in mediocrity and the monotony of failure. What do Cristiano Ronaldo, Beyoncé and Muhammed Ali possess in common that the average man on the street lacks? What is the secret behind their repeated success when every other Tom and Harry can barely meet his weekly target? The answer lies in the mindset that these winners have developed. Yes, with the right mindset and lifestyle choices, you can finally cut down the odds in your favor. You can finally choose what happens to you when you have the right mindset and habits. Self-improvement is the bedrock of the mentality of winners. They are constantly on the lookout for ways to be better at what they already do. Every day, they take a little step but they take that step in the right direction always. So, they start each new day on an improved note. And that's what I need you to do. Your transformation relies on three main pillars - building the right mindset, choosing the right goals and developing routines and habits that can get you to your goals. That is what the eight chapters in this book are built around. The right mindset is the vehicle for your goals; choosing the right goals is a key factor and I will show you habit management hacks that will change the way you approach your work and day. I have a promise to make. At the end of this book, I am 110% sure that you will be ready to transform and take back control of your life. I promise to provide the knowledge you need to do that. However, you must make a promise to me to act upon the knowledge contained in this book. As Pablo Picasso said, "Action is the foundational element of success." You need to act. Are you ready to embark on the most important journey of your life so far? Turn to the next chapter and start investing in your strengths NOW! Good Luck!

The Power of Affirmations and Positive Self-Talk Nov 20 2021 Welcome to a little book that could change your life! When I was in my teens, I suffered from a lack of confidence and self-worth. Like many people, I believed my negative thoughts and feelings were simply who I was. They were coming from my mind. I felt them in my body. They must be real. And that's exactly how most people live their lives: on autopilot, letting their thoughts and emotions run wild, then hanging on for dear life as they try to cope. Can you relate? But you don't have to live that way. Your thoughts are not an accurate reflection of who you truly are. You can take control of the conversations going on in your own head. And affirmations are the perfect tool to help you do that. Using the power of positive self-talk, you will no longer be a victim of negative thinking. You will be in the driver's seat of your mind - and your life! So, get ready to live a happier, more fulfilling life!

(From the Playboy interview with Jay-Z, April 2003) PLAYBOY: Rap careers are usually over fast: one or two hits, then styles change and a new guy comes along. Why have you endured while other rappers haven't? JAY-Z: I would say that it's from still being able to relate to people. It's natural to lose yourself when you have success, to start surrounding yourself with fake people. In The 48 Laws of Power, it says the worst thing you can do is build a fortress around yourself. I still got the people who grew up with me, my cousin and my childhood friends. This guy right here (gestures to the studio manager), he's my friend, and he told me that one of my records, Volume Three, was wack. People set higher standards for me, and I love it.
